THE CARMEL CYMBAL

CARMEL, CALIFORNIA, MARCH 20, 1935

VOLUME 4 NUMBER 16

5 CENTS A COPY $2 A YEAR

Remember Who You Are

MAYOR JAMES H. THOBURN AND MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL:
Gentlemen:

There will be presented to you at your meeting tonight petitions signed by voters and taxpayers of Carmel requesting you to name Councilman Bernard Rowntree Commissioner of Police and Fire. There have been presented to you at previous meetings petitions requesting this action. Effort has been made to avoid duplications in these petitions and, assuming that there are no duplications or that they are almost negligible, here is what we have:

81 voters and taxpayers have already petitioned you to appoint Mr. Rowntree to this commissionership.

On the petitions tonight there will be approximately 200 names. This makes an approximate total of 281 citizens and voters in Carmel. Eliminating my signature, which you are privileged to do, you have about 280 names.

At the election last April there were 526 votes cast. The sum of 280 is more than half that total.

In other words, more than half the number of citizens who voted at the election last April want Mr. Rowntree appointed Commissioner of Police and Fire.

What are you going to do about it?

Are you going to sit up there and tell the people of Carmel that you are running this city and the hell with them? You have been doing just about that recently. Are you going to continue to do it?

I understand that Mayor Thoburn has the idea of dividing the commissionership, making fire and police separate. What for? Merely to satisfy the desire of one councilman and the wishes of your new chief of police? Is it worth the cost, to say nothing of deliberately ignoring the wishes of 280 citizens? The cost in money, to do this, would be in the neighborhood of $10. That's the approximate price of the public printing in the Pine Cone of the amendment to Ordinance No. 2 which would be required in order to take this action.

Try and remember at your meeting tonight that instead of being some sort of minor gods, descending from Olympus to take divine control of this little commonwealth, you are, instead, merely Jim Thoburn, John Catlin, and Joe Burge, selected by the people in what may have been questionable wisdom, to carry out the details of government, while at the same time you give ear to their desires in the more important things.

It is possible for discourtesy over the telephone, lack of subscriptions and timidity of advertisers to injure, or even kill THE CYMBAL, but it isn't possible to change the state of mind which THE CYMBAL is representing in this city. All that would be gained for you in the death of THE CYMBAL would be relief from reading about your errors in print; you would still have people talking about them up and down Ocean Avenue as they are today.

It is possible to be a member of the Carmel City Council and not lose the respect of those who elected you. You can start toward regaining what you have lost by your action tonight.

W. K. BASSETT

Carmel To Vote June 4 on Public Utilities Plan

Carmel is to go to the polls again June fourth.

This time it is to vote on whether or noth it wants to join with Monterey, Pacific Grove, Pebble Beach and Del Monte in the formation of a public utilities district, ostensibly for the purpose of purchasing the Monterey County Water Works.

The board of supervisors of Monterey County at its regular meeting yesterday in Salinas selected this date for the election. There was some discussion about the division of wards for the election, but otherwise the selection of the date was made without debate.

There is every indication, as gathered from talk on the street, that Carmel will vote against the formation of the district or joining in should such a district be formed. Sentiment against the plan is also said to be crystallizing in Pacific Grove.

More Petitions To Be Presented Tonight for Councilman Rowntree

At least three additional petitions will be presented to the city council tonight asking that it appoint Councilman Bernard Rowntree Commissioner of Fire and Police. It is expected that these petitions will bear a total of approximately 200 names. Previously petitions making a similar request have been filed with the council, containing 81 names.

The office of commissioner of fire and police has been vacant since the resignation of Robert Norton who was appointed Chief of Police.

Councilman John Catlin is said to desire the police commissionership and Chief of Police Norton is reported to favor him for such a position. In case Catlin is given this appointment, it would be necessary to amend ordinance No. 2, which puts both fire and police under one commissioner. The council majority, it appears, is favorable to appointing Councilman Rowntree as fire commissioner, but not to that of police. The fire department wants Councilman Rowntree fire commissioner.

The petitions to be filed tonight want Rowntree named to the commission as it now stands. It is claimed that he was elected with the idea that he would be made fire and police commissioner.

Jehanne Monteagle and F. Robert Smith motored to Burlingame on Sunday afternoon to attend a cocktail party given by Alexis Ehrman. Smith spent the week-end in San Francisco and returned to Carmel yesterday.

Joint Bridge Planned By Woman's Club and Girl Scout Council

A join: bridge party and tea will be held Monday afternoon, March 25, by the Carmel Woman's Club and the Girl Scout Council in the Girl Scout House on Sixth and Dolores. Proceeds will be divided between the funds of the two organizations.

Reservations are being telephoned to Mrs. Osborn Johnson, Carmel 1166-w and the following people have reserved tables:

Miss Elizabeth Alcott, Mrs. Harold Mowry, Miss Elizabeth Mascord, Miss Agnes Knight, Mrs. I. B. Winslow, Mrs. H. S. Nye, Mrs. A. W. Wheldon, Mrs. Ethel P. Young, Mrs. Pat Hudgins, Mrs. Ann Chidester, Mrs. M. F. Grant, Mrs. Sumter Earle, Mrs. John E. Abernethy, Mrs. F. A. Greatwood, Mrs. John Dickinson, and Mrs. J. S. McKean.

The committee is made up of members of both organizations: Mrs. J. W. Stillwell, Mrs. John Dickinson, Mrs. Ann Chidester, Miss Ginevra Peirce and Mrs. Osborn Johnson.

Total of 263 Dogs Here Now Immunized

Another 52 animals were immunized at the 50 cent clinic in the Carmel firehouse last Saturday, making a total of 263 immunized in Carmel by Dr. William H. Hammond in the two clinics.

This 263 is not the total of Carmel pets which have had the treatment because many were taken to veterinaries before the clinics were held here. However, Charles Guth estimates that not more than half of the animals in town have been given the rabies serum.

Immunization is now compulsory in Carmel and in all of the unincorporated areas surrounding, which includes Carmel Woods, the Point, Hatton Fields and Pebble Beach.

Viola d'Amore To Be Heard Here

Denny-Watrous Gallery announces as its next attraction the return of Alix Young Maruchess, who played the viola and viola d'amore last year to a delighted audience which asked for a speedy return of the ancient instrument and its gifted player. Mme. Maruchess will give her Carmel concert on Saturday evening, April 6, in the Gallery.

The Viola d'Amore, predecessor of the modern viola, belongs to a group of stringed instruments known as the 'viols,' which were in existence several hundred years before the violin—according to some authorities. Literature is full of references to the delicate, hauntingly lovely tone of the 'viol.' The viols reached the perfection of their use during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

The Viola d'Amore, or 'Viol of Love,' was, according to poets and painters, and musicians, the loveliest of all the viols, and most suited to solo performances.

It is this instrument, together with the viola, which Mme. Maruchess will play in the Gallery on April 6. The viola d'amore owned by Mme. Maruchess is an Amati. Alix Young Maruchess has played much abroad and in this country her appearances include New York, as soloist with the Manhattan Symphony Orchestra, for the League of Composers in New York, for the Friends of Music in Washington, D.C., for the Coolidge Festival, in the Library of Congress, Washington, D.C., and for the greater universities of the East.

Leidig and Aides At San Jose Blaze

Fire Chief Robert Leidig and Firemen Paul Mercurio and Ernest Perkins, Jr., returning from a firemen's convention in Sacramento on Saturday evening, found themselves mere bystanders at the blaze in San Jose which burned the high school auditorium.

The convention in Sacramento was of the Northern California Fire Chiefs' association and was one of those gatherings held annually at which state firemen learn from the experiences of others the tricks of suppressing tricky fires. Chief Leidig claims to have learned a number of them.

Two books published this week are of interest to Carmelites. "Winter in Taos," by Mabel Luhan and "Fatherland" by Karl Billonger with a foreword by Lincoln Steffens. The latter is the story of a German anti-nazi, who had been tortured in concentration camps for a year and finally escaped.

Sunday evening dancing to the music of Bob Kinney's orchestra has been resumed at Del Monte Lodge.

CHARLIE FROST STARS AS GIANTS COME FROM BEHIND TO BEAT PILOTS; DADS IN DISGRACE IN SECOND GAME

By A. BALONE

Charlie Frost, stellar shortstop for championship Abalone League teams since the days of Pop Anson, proved the sensation of the season Sunday by pulling the Giants out of the cellar with a win over Charlie Van Riper's Pilots. The score: Giants 10; Pilots, 4.

Frost had spectators and players all agog as he walked onto the field as an example of what the well-dressed ball player should wear. Then, as if to prove his right to appear in that role, he out-hopped, skipped and jumped, out-talked, out-fielded and out-batted the club that "took" the Giants earlier in the season.

His play was infectious. The rest of Bardy's Giants played better ball than even before. Townsend hit an unearned home run and others were there with hits whenever they were needed. A couple of Shamrock players used as substitutes on the Giants' team contributed their share to the fielding and scoring. Dick Masten of the Pilots tossed a bagfull of fade-away balls, upshoots and what-have-yous at the Giants while the old maestro, Charlie Van Riper, struggled with words of encouragement and a fine display of how it should be done, to pep up his team mates, but it was all in vain. Frost's inspirational play was too great to overcome.

In the second game the Shamrocks took the Blues and held their undefeated position in the league. Score: Shamrocks, 6; Blues, 1. Twice during the game the Blues had three men on bases but were unable to deliver the necessary hits to put the runners across home plate. It must be very embarrassing for some of the fathers to stand by and coach their sons at bat and then pop up to the infield for the third out with the bases full.

(Editor's note—Names in this instance deleted to avoid the breakdown of parental authority.)

Gale Alderson, Sr., made two runs for the Shamrocks and the following each made one:

Bernie McMenamin, Gale Alderson, Jr., J. O. Handley and Spike Tremayne.

Martin Leidig and Fred Warren each made one of the two runs for the Blues.

Fred Godwin made one run for the Pilots, Frank Jacott, two, and Billy Staniford, one.

The Giant runs were made by O. W. Bardarson and J. O. Handley, who each made one, and by Rosy Henry, three; Charley Frost, two, and Frank Townsend, three.

Citizens Urged to Vote for Education

"Citizens and teachers must vote for delegates to the constitutional convention next Januarl who are friends of education," is the message brought back by teachers of Sunset School who attended the teachers' convention in King City last Saturday. At present, schools have the first allotment of money in the state budgets and it is feared by educators that tihs will be changed. Miss Althea Kendall, Mrs. Anna Kohner and Ernest Calley were the Sunset teachers who attended.

A number of Carmel youths, who are going to school or working in the city, were in town last week-end. Ray Draper came down from Golden Gate Junior College in San Francisco. Don Thompson, who works for an oil company in San Jose, and his brother, Dick Thompson, of Menlo, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Thompson. Dick Seares, who works at I. Magnin's in San Francisco, was the week-end guest of Hap Hasty. Ted Watson, who has a job in San Francisco, visited his parents, Major and Mrs. H. L. Watson.

Staniford Sees Success of Pageant

Don Staniford reports that there is much interest shown by transients in the Serra Festival and Pilgrimage. Although it has had but one year to become famous word of it has traveled far, and Staniford, who is head of the festival committee, believes that it wil draw many people when it is produced August 28 to September 1.

George Marion, who wrote the pageant will again direct and take the part of Father Serra. Mr. Marion intends to augment and improve the play wherever possible.

Johnny Scott, Wyoming cowboy, is leaving us—leaving us for good. But we have had him for five years. He came out here to the western west for a month's vacation; he stayed five years. He's beginning to think his five years' month has lasted long enough and that Wyoming ya-ho-whoop is a call too strong for him to resist. He has been, for the past five years, foreman on the Henry Delafield Phelps ranch, "Mission Ranch." So long, Johnny, but we'll expect to see you back here again . . .

Sunset Intra-Mural Games Under Way

Sunset School's intra-mural baseball league is underway. On March 12, teams No. 9 and 10 played with the result of 12 to 10 in favor of No. 10.

The winners included Billy Frolli, captain; Bobby Frolli, Larry McLaren, Charles Gansel, Donald Stanigord, Bob Gansel, John Tait and Motje Hansen. Their opponents were Emory Nielsen, captain; Fred Marshall, Max Hagemeyer, George DeAmoral, Lyle Henderson, Emil Villapando, Allan Wood, Buddy Schaufter and Billy McDermaid.

Team No. 1 lost to team No.3 with a score of 15 to 14. Team No. 1 players are Paul Warrington, captain; Harry Butts, Harry Warrington, Hugh Gottfried, Gerald Ray, Jerry Neikirk, Pete Steffens, Colden Whitman, and Arthur Strasburger. Team No. 3 players are Homer Levinson, captain; Howard Levinson, Tony Van Riper, Jos McEldowney, De Witt Appleton, Edward Ricketts, Barclay Spence, Donald Morton, Robert Morton, Albert Harner and Alexander Allen.

On Thursday team No. 2 won from team No. 4 by 14 to 6 and team No. 9 won from team No. 5 by 9 to 5.

Team No. 2 is Edgar Leslie, captain; Frankie Hayford, Baird Bardarson, John Wood, Orville Jones, Monty Stearns, Gordon Ewig, Arthur Hately, Roy Jiminez.

Team No. 4 is Jack Pelton, captain; Dick Pelton, Hugh Smith, Jimmy Handley, Cyril Stevenson, Harold Johnson, Alex Mayes, Bobby Mayes Jack Harner, and Jack Mayes.

Team No. 5 is Maya Miyamoto, captain; Gordon Miyamoto, Adrian Harbolt, Dick Uzzell, William Lange, Tony Ragoza, Victor Candia, John Setchel, Bobby Martin and Bertrand Ruhl.

Betty Stuhr had a surprise visit from her friend, Helen McNamara, who drove down from Mill Valley last Friday. Miss Stuhr entertained her guest by a drive down the coast and up the Carmel Valley.

Bewitched

All unaware I walked into that field
So cool it looked and innocent with grass
So morning-fair—no magic was revealed
Upon its face. Yet strange things came to pass.
No sound there was. I looked into the trees.
Behold a fair and almost holy sight!
The little pointed leaves, aflame and free,
Walked along the branches in delight!
The poppies through the leaping grasses burned,
The great blue flame of heaven wrapped me round
I walked in light; and as I, startled, turned,
The very hills were lifted from the ground.
Not real! Not real! So sang the earthly host.
I clung upon creation with a cry,
Clutching for safety at a fading ghost
"If these things are unreal, then who am I?"

—Dora Hagemeyer

Nice Man; Good Work

"They've kicked up so much hell and raised so much stink in the last few days let 'em find out for themselves."

This from Councilman Joseph A. Burge, member of the Carmel City Council and commissioner of streets, over the telephone in answer to the request of a Cymbal reporter, who happens to be a lady, for information regarding the improvement of the parking area in the center of Ocean Avenue.

Then he hung up his telephone in her ear.

We found out about the work on Ocean Avenue. Councilman Burge is realigning the stones in the center of the parking strip. It's a good idea. We want to compliment Councilman Burge on the work.

Tossing It Away

It may be interesting to Carmel taxpayers to know that the $25 for yelling the report of the public utilities commission down a deep well has been paid.

Add this to the $100 appropriated for the use of F. P. Howard as a member of the fact-finding commission and you have $125.

Now add approximately $300 for the special election which will be held here in June.

That sends glimmering about $425 of the money of Carmel taxpayers.

And for nothing.

Because just as sure as death and those taxes, the proposal that this city enter the public utilities district for the purpose of purchasing the water works will be voted down and voted down hard.

The people of Carmel were suspicious of the thing long before Howard's report was first aired at the "mass" meeting at Pine Inn. Since the issuance of the report they are no less suspicious—more so, if anything.

Carmel is not now, and apparently never was, interested in the financial woes and the heavy water bills of the Monterey canners to the extent of buying a pig in a poke, a pig that remains in a poke, despite all the efforts of fact-finders to drive it out where everybody can look it over.

With the election assured and nothing to stop it, our economy city council can now start digging up some other scheme that costs money, preferably something that requires an election.

Adventures In Eating Out

NOURISHMENT AT NOON

No. 2

We didn't have time to go far afield that noon. So we just walked out of THE CYMBAL office and stayed on the same street—which naturally brought us to Steve Patterson's Old Chop House on the corner of Sixth and San Carlos.

Almost we decided to eat in the outer room with the counter: then, after looking about vaguely in that idiotic way people entering restaurants always seem to have, we suddenly became quite brisk and determined and went through into the other dining room. And there, after we had chosen a table by the window where we could watch the flow of cars into and out of town, we noticed with admiration and approval that the interior of the chop house has been thoroughly done over since the "old days" when we were here before. It all looks so clean and fresh, and there is a pleasant combination of blue and green and black in the color scheme—much better to see than to say!

But when we glanced up and saw what was on the wall opposite the windows we knew why something had led us to change our minds about eating in the other room. For there, big as life, were the very designs which once greeted the startled eyes of those who looked, at least at the covers, of the old CYMBAL. The Hestwood linoleum cuts in two colors had a style all their own—and here, on the wall, are the same gay, flippant, delightful figures in the flat colors so daringly combined. The poet, the pianist, the singer, the artist, the dancer—and the adoring female onlooker! We couldn't write an art criticism if we sat up all night but even if we're the only one who thinks so, we maintain that this Hestwood mural is something Carmel should point out with pride to visitors who are looking for samples of local color!

We probably missed a lot of passing traffic on account of the wall painting, but we didn't miss a bit of the good lunch which was set before us so promptly. We remember that in a by-gone adventure we described the Old Chop House as the "meat-eater's haven," or words to that effect. And those words are still good. Moreover, even if meat prices have gone soaring up recently, you can get a hearty meal of steaks or roasts or chops here at what are literally moderate prices. With all the trimmings of delicious coffee and tender-crusted French bread to add to your contentment . . . —D. C.

Moscow News Editor Is Visitor in Carmel

Prominent visitor in Carmel the past week-end was Anna Louise Strong, editor of the Moscow News and for 14 years a resident of Russia. She is on a lecture tour of America and came to Carmel with her sister, Mrs. Niederhausen, of Menlo Park. They were guests of Lincoln Steffens, and invited to meet Miss Strong and hear her stories of Russia were Mrs. Ross Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Rhys Williams, Dr. R. A. Kocher, Sara Reamer and Mrs. John Short.

Soon after arriving in the United States Miss Strong was summoned to the White House where she told President and Mrs. Roosevelt about affairs in the Soviet Union. Incidentally, while in California, she has offered to visit San Simeon ranch and tell Mr. William Randolph Hearst and Arthur Brisbane, who is visiting there now, about conditions in Russia.

Pirandello Play Rehearsals Progress

"Six Characters in Search of an Author," much-discussed play by Luigi Pirandello, is in nightly rehearsal under the skillful direction of Beverley Wright. The cast, whose names have not yet been given out, is shortly to be announced; and several names new to the Carmel stage will be found on the list. In fact not a few surprises are promised in this amazing play of the Italian author.

The Denny-Watrous Gallery announces April 11, 12 and 13 as the dates of production of the "Six Characters." The play adapts itself admirably to the unique resources of the Gallery stage, and will offer something entirely new in Carmel Little Theatre history. Pirandello has written the play in four dimensions, as it were, and the fantastic, yet dramatically real characters hold the audience in tense suspense.

Pirandello's "Six Characters in Search of an Author" was the last play in which Miss Wright worked under Max Reinhardt before her return to the United States after her two years under the European master.

'Americanism' Program Staged by Legion at Sunset School

Under the auspices of the Carmel Post, American Legion, an Americanism program was staged at the Sunset School Auditorium last Friday night. George J. Hatfield, lieutenant-governor of California, delivered the address of the evening, warning against the spread of communism as a menace to American ideals and traditions. Senator E. H. Tickle was chairman of the evening and introductory remarks were made by Byington Ford, chairman of the 13th district American Legion committee on subversive activities.

The program, which was arranged by O. W. Barnarson, principal of the Sunset School, opened with a short concert by the 11th. Artillery band. Following the address by Lieutenant-Governor Hatfield, there was the singing of "Onward America", "America, the Beautiful" and "The Star Spangled Banner"; recitation of the preamble to the constitution by members of the American Legion, presentation of a flag to the school, and address by Edgar Leslie, Sunset school pupil on "Contributions of American Youth to Democracy".

Mrs. Daisy Taylor, retiring member of the school board, made the presentation address when the flag was given to the school.

Hanke To Be Elected Sunset School Trustee

Adolph G. E. Hanke will be elected a trustee of the Sunset Elementary School District at the election to be held Friday, March 29. His name will be the only one on the ballot and there is no indication of opposition through the writing in of any other candidate. Mr. Hanke was chosen by a committee in the interests of harmony. He will succeed Mrs. Daisy Taylor whose term expires.

There will be two polling places at the election, one at the Sunset School and the other at the Carmel Fire Station. The polls will be open from 9 A. M. until 6 P. M.

A scavenger hunt (and in case you don't know what that is, consult one of the following and ask him all about it) required the most of Friday evening for its completion. Those included in the party were: Josephine Heyl, Peggy Graham, Pat Coblentz, John Short, Ted Marble, Bill Short and Cole Weston. The same party, with the addition of Betty Boucher, Fred Bryant and David Hagemeyer, attended a masquerade party given by Barbara Humphrey of Monterey the following night.

Out-of-State Autos Here

Citizens of other states—and territories—in the union, visiting in Carmel during the past seven days, as evidenced by automobile registration plates seen on the streets, have been from New Hampshire, Missouri, Hawaii, Kansas, Connecticut, Wisconsin, Idaho and Arizona.

Outside the union: Manitoba.

That totals 9 for the week.

Dick Sears, now living in San Francisco, was the week-end guest of Henry Hasty.

John Douglas Short, San Francisco attorney, spent the week-end in Carmel. Mr. and Mrs. Short and family spent Sunday at the Big Sur.

Henry B. Dickinson spent the week-end in Carmel.

Mrs. Eugene R. Spunn of Berkeley was the week-end guest of Mrs. Claire Kennedy, also of Berkeley, who has taken a house on Camino Real and expects to make Carmel her home.

Chief Norton Probes Dolores Street Parking

Chief of Police Robert Norton has decided that something should be done before the summer season sets in about the parking problem on Dolores street. Even now it is difficult to find a place to park in order to visit any of the stores on the block. The all-day parking privilege is found to be to blame for the trouble and it is possible that a two-hour restriction will be imposed. The situation is under investigation.

Johnny Rockwell, Edith Arnstein and Robert Triest are expected in Carmel this week-end to be the guests of Miss Sara E. Reamer.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Bell and Miss Helen Freeman of Pasadena, who plan a trip to Europe, are in Carmel for a few days.

Miss Frances Castelhun and Miss Evelyn Snyder of San Francisco visited in Carmel over the week-end.
